

KULDEEP JAIN

Managing Director, Clean Max Solar

Brief Profile

- Kuldeep is a PGDBM from Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad (IIMA) (1997-99 batch) and Chartered Accountant (CA) and ICWA (1997 batch). He has worked with Deloitte ToucheKohmatsu (then SB Billimoria) as part of CA articleship.
- McKinsey & Co (1999 to 2011): Last held position of global partner. Led McKinsey and Company's practices in Energy and Corporate Finance in India. In his 12 years stint with McKinsey, Kuldeep led various M&A, Management Consultancy, Business Strategy & Corporate Finance assignments across different industries including Power, Renewables, Infrastructure, basic materials for leading Indian Corporate, MNCs and Government Organizations in India and Internationally. He has lived and worked across Mumbai, London, Singapore and Hong Kong.
- In 2011, Kuldeep founded Clean Max Enviro Energy Solutions Pvt Ltd (now Clean Max Solar). Clean Max Solar is today India's largest rooftop solar developer (with 28% market share). Clean Max serves leading Indian and global corporates including groups such as Tatas, Mahindras, Godrej, Bajaj, TVS, Birlas and top global MNCs. CleanMax has also recently begun international expansions, including in Middle East and SE Asia.
- CleanMax operates through five offices in India, and has the distinction of solar power plants operational in most states in India, including the largest rooftop plant in Karnataka (2 MWP at TVS Motors), in Gujarat (2 MWP at Tata Motors, Sanand).
- In addition, Kuldeep serves on the board of leading companies such as Nazara Gaming (Emerging Markets largest mobile gaming services provider) where he is a board representative of West Bridge Capital. Kuldeep also serves on the advisory board of a social impact fund launched by Contrarian Capital.
- A resident of Mumbai, Kuldeep (41) has been married for the past 15 years to Nidhi (an architect) and has two boys, aged 12 (Dhruv) and 9 (Dheer).