

Mark Newton

Mark Newton is the Acting Director of the Clean Energy and Environment Office (CLEEO) of the India Mission of the United States Agency for International Development (USAID). He joined USAID in September 2012 and worked in USAID's Bureau of Economic Growth, Education, and Environment (E3).

Mark leads USAID's $30 million partnership with the Government of India's Ministry of Power focused on large-scale integration of renewable energy into the power grid (Greening the Grid). He coordinates USAID/India's cooperation with the National Institution for the Transformation of India (NITI) Aayog focused under the U.S.-India Joint Working Group for Sustainable Growth. He is also part of the USAID team that is engaged on off-grid energy access.

Prior to joining USAID, Mark was a long-term contractor for the Canadian International Development Agency and the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade in the Dominican Republic (DR) and Haiti. He also worked for the U.S. non-profits Winrock International (the Clean Energy Group) and Enersol Associates in the DR, Haiti and Honduras.

He has a Master's in Energy and Environment studies from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies and a B.A. in International Business from Ohio Wesleyan University.
