Multiple Level Certification provides you with complete career growth

"Certificate In Project Management (CIPM) is unique and should become a must for professionals of an enterprise to create a common vocabulary"
- Dr. Hiroshi Tanaka, President, PMA, Japan and PM Advocate of JGC Corpn. (2007)

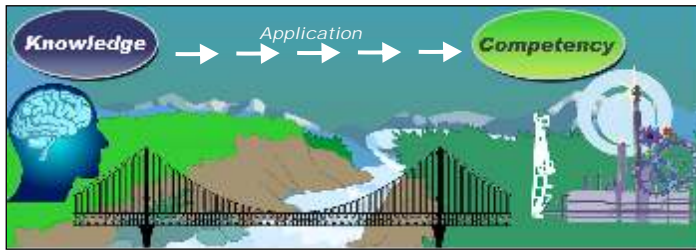

*IPMA 4 Level Certification (4LC) requires face to face assessment by 2 experts, report writing, advanced exam and to evolve a competency development plan.
Three modes of training to prepare for CIPM: Internet based, CD based and Classroom*

Some of the companies/ institutions who have gone in for IPMA 4LC and CIPM credentials are:

IPMA 4LC to enhance complex project delivery effectively and CIPM - Creating a Common Project Management Language (PML) Enterprise-wide

The Global Symposium 2014 will focus on the key initiatives required to transform from Knowledge to Competencies

Certification based on Exam is the basic step. It should lead to competency based certifications.

It is well understood globally today that Exam based project management certification reflects only the knowledge component and not the competencies required in managing projects. Exam based certification is like getting a Drivers License. Competency assessment in driving on highways or in complex traffic conditions requires a more rigorous process.

Global Symposium 2014 will focus on the major challenges in transforming operational to project mindset. The Project Mindset is at the core in providing transformation from present to the future. Incidentally, the theme of the 1/2 day seminar in August 1999 in Stockholm, Sweden organized by the Swedish Project Management Association and conducted by me was given the same theme as proposed for GS 2014.

We have invited stalwarts from all over the world in transforming organizational culture to project mindset. Dr. G S Krishnan, Program Manager and the Chief Knowledge Officer at Goddard Flight Space Centre (GSFC), USA would be one of the Keynote Speakers who would link the progress made by NASA in the last 5 decades by its commitment to the project mindset.

We expect participants from over 30 countries. Our Global Symposium 2014 would follow the IPMA World Congress from Sep 30 to Oct 2, 2014 in Rotterdam, Holland. Some of the best papers, lessons learnt from the winners of the IPMA Project Excellence Award and case studies of the World Congress will also be presented in the GS 2014.

Since 1992, our annual Global Symposiums are held in Delhi. They are considered to be one of the most significant events for the project management professionals worldwide.

We look forward to see you and soon.

Adesh Jain
Honorary President, PMA, India and Former President, IPMA
